

Required Courses for the Master's Degree in Instructional Technology

Instructional Technology Specialist Track

(semesters listed in bold letters indicate online version of the class)

Required Professional Development Course (non credit)	Semester Completed
500 Graduate Professional Seminar (Fall, Spring)
Required Core Courses (24 hours)
550 Instructional Design (Fall, Spring , Summer)
560 Multimedia Productions (Fall, Spring, Summer)
570 Intro. to Website Development (Fall, Spring, Summer)
542 Technology Applications for the Classroom (Fall)
546 Research in Instructional Technology (Summer)
540 Technology Planning Across the Curriculum (Spring)
551 Advanced Instructional Design (Fall, Spring, Summer) (prerequisite: Instructional Design)
590 Internship or 599 Thesis
eCourse Option (3 hours) (choose 1 from the list)
585 eLearning Concepts (Spring)
584 Online Course Design (Fall)
586 Blended eLearning (Summer)
581 Special Topics: Social Media eLearning (Summer)
Elective Courses (6 hours) (choose 2 from the list)
572 Intro. to Authoring (Fall , Spring, Summer)
577 Advanced Authoring (Spring)
576 Advanced Authoring for Mobile Development (Fall)
574 Advanced Authoring for Networks (Summer)
585 eLearning Concepts (Spring)
584 Online Course Design (Fall)
586 Blended eLearning (Summer)
588 Learning Management Systems (Summer)
579 Instructional Game Development (Fall)
581 Special Topics: Scenario Based Simulations (Spring)
581 Special Topics: Gamification of eLearning (Summer)
581 Special Topics: Leading Virtual Teams (Fall)
575 Managing Multimedia Projects (Spring, Fall)
598 General Transfer Course for Instructional Technology
Approved course from another department

	Spring	Summer	Fall
2013
2014
2016
2017

As a graduate student you enroll in classes yourself through the ISIS system (<http://www.bloomu.edu/isis/student>).

First check your course plan to see what courses you should take next. Login to ISIS (<http://www.bloomu.edu/isis/student>) and from there you will be able to add classes to your schedule. You will know when classes were added and can verify your schedule for the semester. If a class is filled you do need to contact your advisor Dr. Nicholson (mnichols@bloomu.edu) and the professor of the course directly to request permission to be added to the class.

The Registrar's Office has some online tools that are helpful when scheduling – especially the online course list. These tools are at: <http://www.bloomu.edu/registrar/students>

You can also search for classes using this link: <http://adminapps.bloomu.edu/coursesearch/search>

If you have any questions please don't hesitate to ask!

Cheers, Dr. Nicholson